SITE DESCRIPTION: A small graveyard on the old road alignment between Lewisham and Carlton River that appears to contain only a few graves, but which may contain many more that are not visible. The state of the grounds are very overgrown and it is not possible to see some sites whilst others are collapsed. The boundaries of the graveyard are also not clear on the site. The earliest graves seen are from the 1880's and the last is from 1929 which relates to the closure of the adjacent church. The graves relate to the early families of the area. Urgent action is required to save surviving graves.
HISTORY:
BOUNDARY: The listing boundary is formed by the title boundary of the property.
COMMENTS: A small country cemetery, now overgrown, located on the alignment of the old road to Carlton which is now a stock route and over private property. The cemetery contains several visible grave sites of prominent early in the area and it is likely that many other graves are on the site. The cemetery is above the chapel and adjacent to the former school site, making its location significant in understanding the development of the area. It meets Criteria A4 C2 D2 E1 F1 and G1 for inclusion in the Register of the National Estate. It should be included in Schedule 3 of the Sorell Planning Scheme and should be nominated for inclusion in the Tasmania Heritage Register and the Register of the National Estate .
